

TRAVELLIN' LITE
Second US tour for BritBus

Spring 2007 has seen the second BBC BritBus Tour take to the turnpikes around the U.S., this year playing in fifteen major cities across America, and climaxing in New York towards the end of June. Each bus stop is a 2 - 4 day event featuring the best in British music, television, entertainment and, of course, products, and Litestructures is out there with them.

A high-profile promotional tour like these BritBus events, needs to travel with an easy-to-assemble, lightweight, modular, transportable staging and decking system. With its stylish design and unique, time-saving, Top Lock system, LiteDeck was the obvious choice. Having designed and supplied the ideal rig for the tour, Litestructures have also become BritBus sponsors, joining the BBC, Virgin, Gibson guitars and other world brands.

Litestructures' Managing Director, Adrian Brooks commented; "When it comes to combining engineering with entertainment, Britain in general, and LiteDeck in particular still lead the world."
